LINE DANCING IN PORTUGAL'S UNSPOILT ALGARVE

With Alison Biggs & Peter Metelnick

28th October 2010 – 04th November 2010

- Morning workshops & evening social dances
- Beautiful wooden-floored ballroom
- Optional excursion to Seville

Tavira is a delightfully unspoilt historic town on the River Gilão in the Eastern Algarve. Traditional Portuguese architecture is to be found throughout the town and its historic monuments date as far back as Roman times. The Hotel Vila Galé Tavira is situated only a 5-minute stroll from both the river and the heart of the town and has been beautifully designed to blend in unobtrusively with the surrounding local architecture. Fishing boats moor nearby and supply Tavira's riverside restaurants with the ingredients for many tempting local dishes. Just a minute or two beyond the fisherman's quay lies the town's attractive riverside park, and beyond that the intriguing historic hill on which Tavira's castle and several of its centuries-old churches are to be found. A highlight for many will be the chance to visit the overwhelmingly beautiful Spanish city of Seville. Workshops with Alison & Peter will take place in the mornings with afternoons at leisure prior to social dancing in the evenings.
